

11 November 2022

Message

I am immensely pleased to learn that the Integral University, Lucknow, India and Tashkent Chemical-Technological Institute, Tashkent, Uzbekistan is organizing International Conference on Trends and Innovation in Food Technology (TIFT-2022), 24-25 November, 2022 at Integral University, Lucknow, India. A souvenir is being progressed to mark this occasion.

Current issue of food security and sustainability needs significant innovations and global integrated initiatives and efforts. The TIFT-2022 is intended to address the issue with a theme "Serving Present to Secure the Future". It is a great effort of TIFT-2022 to address the challenging areas of food innovation by considering novel food technology and engineering, bioactive components, food additives and ingredients, waste valorization, and food safety. In addition, it will bring the latest technological progress in the food industry.

I am confident that TIFT-2022 will be a great event for the food professionals from the university, research institutes, and food related industry.

I wish the great success of the conference and would like to appreciate all involved in organizing the conference and participants.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Rahman".

Professor Md Shafiur Rahman